

Supporting Statement for the Notice of Proposed Stock Redemption
(FR 4008; OMB No. 7100-0131)

Summary

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, under delegated authority from the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), proposes to extend for three years, without revision, the filing requirements associated with certain stock redemptions by bank holding companies (FR 4008; OMB No. 7100-0131). The Bank Holding Company Act (BHC Act) and Regulation Y generally require a BHC to seek prior Federal Reserve approval before purchasing or redeeming its equity securities. Given that a BHC is exempt from this requirement if it meets certain financial, managerial, and supervisory standards, only a small portion of proposed stock redemptions actually require the prior approval of the Federal Reserve. There is no formal reporting form, and each required request for prior approval must be filed as a notification at the appropriate Reserve Bank of the BHC. The Federal Reserve uses the information provided in the redemption notice to fulfill its statutory obligation to supervise BHCs. The current annual burden for the FR 4008 is estimated to be 233 hours.

Background and Justification

Section 225.4(b)(1) of Regulation Y requires a BHC to seek prior Federal Reserve approval before purchasing or redeeming its equity securities if the gross consideration for the redemption (when aggregated with the net consideration paid by the company for all such redemptions during the preceding twelve months) is equal to 10 percent or more of the company's consolidated net worth.¹ A BHC is exempt from this requirement if it is well capitalized before and immediately after the redemption, is well managed, and is not the subject of any unresolved supervisory issues. The criteria for well capitalized and well managed are provided in sections 225.2(r) and (s) of Regulation Y.

The Board may disapprove a redemption notice if the proposal would constitute an unsafe or unsound practice or violate any law, regulation, Board order, directive, or any condition imposed by, or written agreement with, the Board. In reviewing a stock redemption notice, the Board must consider, after giving effect to the proposal, whether the financial condition of the BHC meets the financial standards applied under section 3 of the BHC Act, including the Board's Capital Adequacy Guidelines (Appendices A, D, and E of Regulation Y) and the Board's Policy Statement for Small Bank Holding Companies (Appendix C). A BHC may request a hearing on a notice of disapproval and, at the conclusion of the hearing; the Board shall by order either approve or deny the proposed redemption on the basis of all facts of record.

The stock redemption notice provides the only source of information available to the Federal Reserve System on the structure of the transactions and the effect of the redemption on the financial condition of the BHC. The information submitted in the notice is used in determining if the proposal is financially sound and consistent with prudent banking practices.

¹ Net consideration is the gross consideration paid by the BHC for all of its equity securities purchased or redeemed during the period minus the gross consideration received for all of its equity securities sold during the period.

Description of Information Collection

A stock redemption notice has no required format and generally is submitted in letter form. The informational contents of the notice are described in section 225.4(b) of Regulation Y. Each notice must contain the following information:

- Purpose of the transaction;
- Description of the type and amount of securities to be purchased or redeemed;
- Number of each class of shares outstanding;
- Gross consideration to be paid;
- Terms and sources of the funding for the proposal;
- Description of all equity securities redeemed within the preceding twelve months, the net consideration paid, and the terms of any debt incurred in connection with the redemptions; and
- Current and pro forma balance sheets.²

A stock redemption notice may be filed with related applications filed under the BHC Act, the Bank Merger Act, or the Change in Bank Control Act. The information required by the FR 4008 may be incorporated in the related application(s), with the related filings reviewed together as a single proposal.

Time Schedule for Information Collection

This information collection is event generated, and the notice must be filed prior to the contemplated stock redemption. Within fifteen calendar days of receipt of a notice, the appropriate Reserve Bank either approves the transaction or refers the notice to the Board for a decision. Notices referred to the Board are to be acted on within thirty calendar days of the Reserve Bank's receipt of the notice, unless processing is extended with the consent of the requesting BHC.³ There is no publication requirement for this notice.

Legal Status

The Board's Legal Division has determined that Sections 4(c) of the BHC Act (12 U.S.C. § 1844(c)) authorizes the Board to require this notification. The individual respondent information in a stock redemption notice is generally not considered confidential.⁴

² BHCs with consolidated assets of $500 million or more generally provide pro forma consolidated data; BHCs with assets of less than $500 million generally provide only pro forma parent-only data. The larger BHCs provide risk-based capital and leverage ratio calculations as of the most recent quarter, and a parent-only pro forma balance sheet if the redemption is to be debt-funded. The smaller BHCs provide parent-only pro forma balance sheets and, if the redemption is debt-funded, one-year income statements and cash flow projections.

³ Stock redemption notices that are filed with related applications are generally reviewed (with the consent of the requesting BHC) under the longer timeframes associated with those related filings.

⁴ Small closely-held BHCs are most likely to seek confidential treatment under the Freedom of Information Act for all or a portion of their stock redemption notice.

Consultation Outside the Agency

There has been no consultation outside the Federal Reserve System.

Estimate of Respondent Burden

Because this information collection is event generated, it is not possible to predict exactly how many notices would be filed in a particular year. The number of notices received during 2004 and 2005 was used to estimate the annual reporting burden. The current annual reporting burden is estimated to be 233 hours and represents less than 1 percent of the total Federal Reserve System burden.

	Number of respondents	Annual frequency	Estimated average hours per response	Estimated annual burden hours
FR 4008	15	1	15.5	233

The current annual cost to the public of this report is estimated to be $14,365.⁵

Sensitive Questions

This collection of information contains no questions of a sensitive nature, as defined by OMB guidelines.

Estimate of Cost to the Federal Reserve System

Annual costs associated with providing the instructions for this notice are negligible. There are no mailing or printing costs incurred by the Federal Reserve System in administering this notice.

⁵Total cost to the public was estimated using the following formula. Percent of staff time, multiplied by annual burden hours, multiplied by hourly rate: 30% - Clerical @ $25, 45% - Managerial or Technical @ $55, 15% - Senior Management @ $100, and 10% - Legal Counsel @ $144. Hourly rate estimates for each occupational group are averages using data from the Bureau of Labor and Statistics, Occupational Employment and Wages, news release.
